

I would regard any attempt to limit XM or any other satellite radio service from broadcasting traffic and weather information as an undue restraint of trade. It see satellite radio as a legitimate alternative to regular broadcast radio much in the same terms as tv satellite vs regular broadcasts. No medium alternative should be restricted over any other. I sincerely hope the FCC will not adopt any restrictions that are so protectionist in nature that they unduly favorite ANY medium.